

JEFFREY SWANN

PPGMR LAW PLLC

As a former mechanical engineer, Jeffrey Swann, an attorney with PPGMR Law PLLC, has the real-world experience to understand and advise clients who work in construction, manufacturing, transportation, oil and gas, and other industries.

“I’ve always been a fixer. I enjoy getting to know how things work from the inside out,” he said, adding that he went to law school to help others in a more direct, personal way. “Being a lawyer is appealing because I get to help others solve problems.”

“Growing up in a manufacturing family and with my experience as an engineer, I naturally gravitated to the more technical and scientific areas of the law,” he added. “I understand the legal needs of these businesses, and these are my kind of people.”

Firsthand industry know-how distinguishes the firm, he added. “Beyond just knowing the law, many of our attorneys possess unique, industry-specific knowledge, and we strive to stay on top of the industry news, trends and practices,” he said. “When you hire a lawyer, why not hire one who knows your industry?”
